WHICH ARE YOU?

There are two kinds of people on earth today; just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood the good are half bad, and the bad are half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth you must first know the state of his conscience and health.
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.
Not the happy and sad, for the swift flying years bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No, the two kinds of people on earth I mean, are the people who lift, and the people who lean.
Wherever you go, you will find the world's masses are always divided in just these two classes.
And oddly enough you will find, too, I ween, there is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In which class are you? Are you easing the load of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear your portion of labor and worry and care?
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The Back Seats.

Has any one of our readers ever noticed the tendency of the people to occupy back seats in a church? It will be in order for them to tell us why this is done. The editor of one of our Methodist contemporaries suggests that they need not be afraid that somebody will accuse them of being religious. No, for there are other things which go to determine that factor in a man's life. We are inclined to the thought that the people sit on the back seats from modesty. Some people, we mean. The people in general are much more modest than most people imagine. This is true of them especially in public assemblages. It would nervously prostrate some men if they thought they had to make a speech. The same kind of fear controls them even in their attendance upon meetings where speaking is to be done. We have seen the same disposition manifested at political meetings. Whatever be the cause, it is a bad habit, and we would like to see a general moving forward. A word of encouragement from the pastor now and then would help matters much.
